BOOM STARTS TO SEND KARL C. KING TO CONGRESS TO HELP MEET URGENT PROBLEMS OF NEW STEEL AND POPULATION EXPANSION IN LOWER BUCKS

Would Offer This County
Its First Congressman
In Eighteen Years

CHOICE SET SATURDAY

Mr. King is Nationally Known Expert in Intensified Farming

A boom for Karl C. King, of Morrisville, head of the King Farms Company and nationally known for mechanized farming on a large scale, as Republican nominee to succeed the late Representative Albert C. Vaughn as the Bucks-Lehigh district's Congressman, was sweeping through Bucks County today.

If he wins the nod of the Eighth Pennsylvania district (Bucks-Lehigh) special conference committee, which will meet Saturday, he will be in line to be Bucks County's first Congressman in eighteen years. During that time Lehigh County had four Congressmen — Frey (1933), Gerlach (1938), Lichtenwalter (1947) and Vaughn (1950).

Mr. King's gigantic farming operation adjoins the sensational new steel-mill development in the "Great Bend" of the Delaware River south of Morrisville, and he has been familiar from the outset with the vast problems created by this mushrooming operation, which is bringing entire cities to this area, and many new industries, and according to some will make this part of Pennsylvania a "new Pittsburgh."

The great arguments in favor of giving Bucks County the privilege of furnishing the nominee for the vacancy caused by the death of Congressman Vaughn are, first, that it is this county's "turn," after eighteen years, to have the Congressman; and second, that Lower Bucks county, scene of the tremendous expansion, urgently needed a Representative at Washington who is personally familiar with the problems.

The machinery by which a Republican nominee is chosen to fill a

Several More Motor Law
Violation Cases Are Heard

NEWCOMERS WARNED

Judge Hiram H. Keller Tells Defendants Such Conduct
Must Stop

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 13 — The parade of motor law violators cases before the Bucks County Grand Jury continued Tuesday.

Robert W. Varvel Jr., a Kentucky mechanic, had been in Bristol but two weeks when he operated his automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He pleaded guilty to that offense before Judge Blester.

Officer John A. Sackville, of the Bristol police, said that he arrested Varvel at 12:45 on the morning of July 2, on Radcliffe street, and that the defendant admitted to him that he had imbibed in "about five beers" and a couple of whiskies. Varvel told Judge Blester that he had driven to Bristol from a visit to his mother's home in the West and was both sleepy and thirsty. He said he stopped at a Bristol club to get his beer. He said he didn't remember telling the policeman that he had two whiskies.

Varvel was sentenced to pay a fine of $200 and costs, and directed to submit his driver's license, which was issued in another state.

Judge Blester continued the case of Commonwealth against Paul Frances Walsh, Jr., of 5433 Marion avenue, Philadelphia, charged with operating a motor vehicle after operating privilege had been suspended and revoked. The court directed that Walsh's plea of guilty be withdrawn and the case continued until Sept. 24, at which time he is to appear and pay a fine of $100 and costs. This action was taken

HOWARD L. BARNES

Burial is to be made this afternoon for Howard L. Barnes, 91, husband of Mrs. Emily Wright Barnes.

The service is scheduled for two p.m. at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Hibbert, Trenton, N. J., with the Rev. James N. Armstrong, of Christ Presbyterian Church, that city, officiating. Interment is to be made in Greenwood Cemetery, Trenton. Mr. Barnes was a frequent visitor at Emlie's a number of years ago. He retired 33 years ago as a lieutenant of Phila. Fire Department.

Karl C. King is Farm Boy Who Has "Made Good" in Big Way

Karl C. King is a farm boy who made good.

He's a go-getter, an organizer, a shrewd and patient planner and developer, with an eye keen enough to see overlooked possibilities, and a mind flexible enough to be willing to change direction when occasion demands.

Born on a small farm in western Kansas, where his father had to eke out the family income by teaching school, he spent his early life industriously trying to get away from farm life and into a career as a newspaperman.

Then, on one of his early interviews, he walked into an once-in-a-million opportunity that took him right back into agriculture, made his fortune, and has placed him today as the head and principal owner of a farm enterprise which grosses two million dollars a year.

The King Farms operation in the Great Bend of the Delaware, upstream from Bristol and just south of Morrisville, is a fabulous operation where truck-patch vegetable growing is done by the hundreds of acres.

Secret Service Agent Poses
As Racketeer To Get
Counterfeitors

A VERY VIOLENT RING

This is another in a series on famous cases of the U. S. Secret Service.

By James Lee
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 — (INS) — A Secret Service agent who posed as a racketeer and dope peddler is credited with bringing about the arrest of four counterfeiters and the seizure of $110,000 in counterfeit federal reserve notes.

Joseph Soroka and a confederate, Joseph G. Girasuso, were arrested in New York City, Sept. 11, 1946, just after Soroka had delivered the $110,000 counterfeit package to the undercover agent at a midtown hotel.

Later the same day, Joseph Paternoster, Newark, N. J., printing proprietor, was arrested as alleged manufacturer of the bogus bills. In his shop, Treasury men found the negative for a counterfeit of $100,000.

Next day, Secret Service agents took into custody George A. Larkin of Newark, Paternoster's alleged partner. Larkin admitted wartime black market sugar deals carried on with counterfeit OPA sugar stamps.

The arrests came about this way: Late in August, a Secret Service man from the west coast, posing as

A fleet of the most modern farm machines, operating in squads and formations, till the soil, fertilize and cultivate the plants, conduct a gas-attack upon insect invaders and a hundred or more big trucks haul the produce away to all major cities east of Chicago, and from Portland, Maine, south to Richmond, Virginia.

In the wintertime "layoff," the farm employees and staff, instead of taking life easy, pitch into the job of hauling oranges in bulk from Florida, putting them into bags, and distributing them throughout this region.

STORMY C's AHEAD

One of the political novelties of the time is the contribution of Senator Karl Mundt, Republican, of South Dakota, who has declared that he believes the Democrats "are about to be sunk beneath the seven C's."

He lists the seven C's as follows:

"One — Corruption. Two — Crookedness. Three — Communism. Four — Conniving. Five — Chiseling. Six — Chicanery. And seven — and this is the one that it takes to make the others make the pay-offs that have become so flagrant — seven stands for Conspiracy. For without conspiracy there couldn't be the other six — there couldn't be the corruption, crookedness, Communism, conniving, chiseling and chicanery that have made this administration smell to high heaven."

"THIS WAS AMERICA"

To tumultuous applause vaudeville used to sing:

It isn't what you used to be;It's what you are today!

Which is nonsense, deriding the fact that existence is continuity, as though the mind did not persist in harking back nostalgically to days long past.

That is why there is every reason to believe that the photographic exhibit portraying in 125 of the choicest prints something of the social history of the last 70 years should send thousands to the Museum of Modern Art in New York, where they will be on display until mid-October.

Through history, excerpts from biography and recalled discussions by parents and grandparents, we may feel we have a fair idea of what happened in this land of ours. However, when it becomes a question of visualizing it, we throw up our hands.

But photography is and has been a priceless boon. These prints on display were dug up in a seven years' search in the Library of Congress from among half a million and selected as characteristic of bygone days.

Some are of disaster, some of persons, like John L. Sullivan, Julia Marlowe and Julia Ward Howe, who were favorites of Americans of their day. Others are of scenes throughout the country, some in New York. The last include the landing in 1880 of the Central Park obelisk, "Cleopatra's Needle," at the Hudson River and 96th street, with not a building in sight.

Another scene is of the Bowery back in 1896, with a steam locomotive pulling an elevated train. Shown, too, are what were almost institutions, fortunately passed, like the feuding of the Hatfields and McCoys.

The educational value of such an exhibit, limited only to 125 prints most carefully selected, in illustrating our growth and folkways is great. It is known as "Forgotten Photographers." It should not be broken up in October, but transported to city after city, for its proper title is "This Was America."

These pictures as a nucleus, supplemented by other photographs, privately owned, that may come out of hiding, should be permanently assembled. What teenager today would believe that women's skirts for street use in the 1880s had two-inch trains? The worthwhileness of these pictures filmed for school use should be appraised now, before it is too late.

People who eat too much, says a doctor, are suffering from anxiety, loneliness, frustration and restlessness. To say nothing of a hearty appetite.

The earth is reported to be running slower on its axis. Washington should appoint a commission to look into the matter.

Three Bucks Co. Doctors Have 150 Years of ServiceContinued from Page One lic Schools of Bucks County, said that he hoped that the day of the old-fashioned country doctor will never pass out, as he paid tribute to the three honored Bucks county physicians.

"I would suggest however that a doctor should have some sort of recognition or 'time out' every ten years, instead of waiting until 50 years of service has been completed," Dr. Boehm said.

The speaker recalled that the family doctor was the first to own an automobile, and the "first" in many other things.

The old-fashioned country practitioner had to do everything; there were no specialists to any great degree fifty years ago. Medical research, however, has done marvels in improving the life span and in the development of a healthy population. Both the general doctor and the specialist are held in high esteem, and I hope they always will be.

Our guests of honor today have given most of their life to the benefit of humanity, and I hope the right to have your own family doctor will always remain in this country."

The speaker advised the physicians present—a very small turnout for a testimonial to three 50-year-veterans—to spend more time in community affairs and politics in general. The dollar is not everything, Dr. Boehm declared.

The guest speaker was introduced by Dr. Russell Green, of Doylestown, president of the association. The program committee chairman was Dr. E. Clifford Lauenschlager, of Doylestown. The society secretary is Dr. William L. Westcott, of Doylestown.

The two honored physicians who were present at the testimonial, Dr. Wareham and Dr. Bassett, have been close friends since their practice in Bucks county.

"We started together in the same community of Yardley, practiced in separate offices for years as neighbors; never had an argument, never knew what the word jealousy meant," declared Dr. Wareham, of Morrisville, who at one time practiced in Yardley, where Dr. Bassett now resides.

"We often took care of each other's practice when illness prevented both of us from serving, and there never was a time, not even once in 50 years, that we disagreed on anything," he added.

Dr. Arthur Wareham, who is 75 and active today, was born in Cheshire, England. He attended private schools in that country and came to America with his family in 1890 and attended the School of Industrial Arts, Philadelphia; returned to England in 1898 for further study in chemistry and returned to the United States and entered the University of Pennsylvania Medical School. He was licensed to practice in 1901. His practice then was limited to proctology. He had professional offices at 143 East State street, Trenton, N. J., and became a member of the Bucks County Historical Society in 1901. During July 1898-March 1899, he served in the Hospital Corps of the Spanish-American War as a private, U. S. Army.

Dr. Henry Lynn Bassett, 74, was born in Philadelphia and attended Penn Charter School, Philadelphia; Princeton University, and Jefferson Medical College, 1901. He, too, was licensed in 1901 and served as chief medical service director of Mercer Hospital, Trenton, for three months yearly. He has been a member of the Yardley Board of Health for 20 years, member of the Lions Club, school board (for 12 years), and chief burgess for four years.

Dr. Samuel Patterson McIlhatten, 72, of Doylestown, was born in Philadelphia and attended Ardmore High School and Philadelphia Medico-Chi College in 1901. He was licensed the same year and was in general practice in Ivyland for many years before becoming superintendent of the Bucks County Home.

The president, Dr. Russell Green, read a copy of a testimonial to the memory of Dr. Frank Lehman, Bristol, which had been sent to Mrs. Lehman. Dr. Lehman had been a member of the county association approximately 49 years.

owners are John D. and Rose M. Farber and Lester M. Goldsmith and Florence F. Goldsmith.

There are two tracts, partly in Langhorne borough and Middletown township. There are 19.527 acres located in Langhorne Borough. There are 39.914 acres in Middletown township and another tract, amounting to 48.325, which is also in Middletown township.

One of the new purchasers, Farber, was also involved in one of the major real estate deals in Falls Township in April.

In April, John D. and Rose M. Farber sold 158.769 acres in Falls Township to the Danher Corporation for about $275,000, according to a deed recorded here.

What disposition the new owner intends to make of the former country club, which was purchased by the American Legion and operated as a post home, has not been revealed.

Karl C. King is Farm Boy Who*Has "Made Good" in Big Way*Continued from Page One

School in 1915. After a year in Kansas State Teachers College, he taught for a year in a rural school in northern Kansas, and then went to Kansas City, Mo., as a reporter.

In 1917 he volunteered in the U. S. Navy, and became a student training to be a pilot, stationed at Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston.

After the First World War was over, he returned to Kansas City, Mo., becoming a reporter for the Barrick Publishing Company, which issued a produce trade paper called The Packer. Later he asked to be transferred to the company's New York office, so that he could work halftime and thus earn his way through courses at Columbia University, specializing in journalism.

In 1921 he was transferred to Barrick's Philadelphia office, and thereupon attended night classes at the Wharton School of Business, University of Pennsylvania.

His big break came the following year. In April he was assigned to write up the Starkey Farm enterprise in Penns Manor, above Bristol. He came up to write the "piece," and, figuratively speaking, stayed seven years.

What happened was that the Starkey owners were looking for a manager, and found in young Mr. King qualities they valued so highly that they passed over the fact he knew virtually nothing whatever of the details of intensive farming.

The further Mr. King went with this type of food production, the more he became eager to develop it along lines of his own, under his own responsibility and ownership.

In 1929 he took the big step. Having signed a long-term lease on 6800 acres of land then owned and controlled by the Warner Sand and Gravel Company, he set up business for himself under the name of "King Farms Company," the same name which continues today.

The size to which the enterprise has grown already has been mentioned.

As for employees, these number about 200 permanent, and temporary seasonal employees bring the total up to one thousand in the busy periods. For about six years the employees have been organized as members of an A. F. of L. union, the Produce, Poultry, Fish, Oyster, and Drivers and Helpers, Local No. 929, Philadelphia, and through this union have enjoyed what Mr. King terms "very happy relations" with the management.

In addition to the King Farms operation, Mr. King is president of the King Supply Company, which does a general farm supply business in the territory, and is agency for the International Harvester Company products.

Second, the appointment in each county of members of a special conference committee, in which the number of conferees in the counties is at the rate of one for each thousand votes cast for the Republican candidate for President in the last national election. This step was initiated at a special meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican County Committee of Bucks County last night in Doylestown which authorized County Chairman A. Harry Clayton to name Bucks County's twenty-nine members, 21 of whom presumably will be the members of the Executive Committee.

Third, the conferees from the two counties meet and nominate the district's Republican candidate for the vacancy. This meeting already has been called for Saturday.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

By FULTON LEWIS, JR.
(Copyright, 1951
King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 — Communism is as much of a horror as it is in the U. S. A. Consequently in talking to diplomats and others in Europe Communism was almost invariably discussed.

The consensus in Europe is that U. S. State Department officials know little of what Communism is or that they are the most frightening collection of dupes in diplomatic history.

Embassies abroad for years got a constant barrage of unsolicited opinion from U. S. officials in respect to the revolution in China, just to take one example. They were told, as were the American people, that the Reds in China were harmless, garden variety Communists with no ties to the Soviet Union.

Smart diplomats in Europe knew better and wondered if U. S. State Department officials are unable to read or just plain dumb. Here is one reason:

Back in 1927, when Bolshevik activities in China really got going, a few smart anti-Communist Chinese stationed in Peking decided to examine Red espionage in detail. They raided the Soviet military attaché's office in Peking on April 6, 1927. What they found was later published and distributed abroad to all friendly countries, including the U. S. A. in fact, a number of State Department officials in China got some of the data first hand.

You'd think that anyone getting paid in the State Department as a "China expert" would have read the Peking raid papers. Without having done so, it would be impossible to know what the Russians were up to in China. But even so, U. S. officials kept on calling the Chinese Reds simple reformers, until Russia got a tight and bloody grasp on the country.

I can't quote in full from the most important document seized from the Russians in Peking, but I can give you a few pertinent paragraphs, so you can make up your own mind whether or not the Chinese Communists were reformers or paid Soviet Russian agents.

For the benefit of the "China experts" in the State Department I'll make available the Peking raid reports so they can brush up on what is and has been going on in China for the past 24 years. Here is a sample:

"Document K, very confidential. Sitting of the commission on Chinese affairs, Peking; August 4, 1926. Present: Comrades Uenschlicht, Chicherin, Bubnov, Trilisser, Rudak, Kopp, Solovoyeff, Melnikoff, Longva, Ouzar and Galis."

"The commission is of the opinion that the situation in China dictates the following basic military and political tasks to the people's army:

"A: To hold the province of Chahar; B: To recommend negotiations with Mukden in order to have a respite and the possibility of taking up again the active struggle against Chihli; to supply Feng with

Read the Bible ----
And as you read, seek.
Don't be too ready to condemn the ideas you find.

Think about them—and they will condemn you.

(They condemn me — divine truth is too pure, to high, for our earth-bound spirits to welcome readily.)

But, in the condemnation, they will lead you to your better self.

In seeing the truth, we, who are slaves,

Become for a glorious moment, free.

My prayer is that the Man of the Book

Will be your companion and friend.

FIFTH WARD AND 3M TEAMS BATTLE TO SCORELESS TIE

Stanley "Butch" Koreyva and George Wallace returned to old-time form last evening as the Fifth Ward Sporting Club and 3M's battled to a scoreless deadlock in the second game of the playoff series of the Bristol Softball League on Memorial Park softball diamond.

Koreyva and Wallace who gave a sad exhibition of twirling last Monday evening were in the groove as each permitted but one hit and handed goose-eggs to the teams. Only one Fifth Ward player got as far as third base and not one Minnesota Mining player was able to reach the hot corner.

The hit allowed by Wallace was a dandy roller down the third base line which Wallace fielded but was in a bad position to throw to first, Pete Mancini beating the throw. Dick Addeo made the only hit off Koreyva, a single to the shortfield in the second session.

In their anxiety to hit the corners of the plate, both pitchers were inclined to be wild. Wallace issued eight walks and fanned three, Koreyva struck out 19, walked two and hit four batters.

Fifth Ward had several chances to push runners around the bags. In the third, Frank Russo walked but was picked off first when the batter failed to bunt. Smithers Cordisco was also passed and went to second on Fanini's low throw, attempting to pick him off. After Koreyva flied out, John Cordisco was also passed but Fahey's fly was basketed by Vic Cauti.

In the final inning with one gone, Partya walked and went to second on a passed ball. Mancini whiffed Russo was also passed. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch. Cordisco skied out to Cauti to end the contest.

Minnesota Mining got two on base with two out in the fifth when Fanini walked and Harry Lewis was hit with a pitched ball. But Cauti's best was a fly to short. In the fourth, Wallace walked and stole second as Addeo was striking out but Amy Lewis' grounder was picked up by Cordisco for an out. After Addeo singled in the second, A. Lewis, Kline and Hinkle struck out.

The next game of the series will be played on Memorial Park Field Friday evening at six o'clock.

ST. ANN'S STREAK OF WINS NOW REACHES TEN

PENNDEL, Sept. 13—St. Ann's A. A., of Bristol, ran its winning streak to 10 straight last evening as it downed the Langhorne Aces, 9-5, on Memorial field. The game was called at the end of the sixth because of darkness.

Once again it was the strong right arm of Tony Capella that netted the "Saints" its triumph. Capella chalked up his sixth consecutive mound triumph. He allowed 10 scattered hits and walked one but was very effective in the clutches.

Wright was the losing pitcher, being nicked for 13 safe blows. He was given a 2-0 lead early in the game but this melted when St. Ann's scored four in the fourth and added another quartet in the fifth.

The Langhorne team staged a rally in the final inning. It scored twice and had two runners on base when Period lined to "Smoky" Pezzullo to end the fracas.

Bill Wallick and Nate Chichilli had home runs for the St. Ann's team with Pezzullo and Centone also having two hits each. Game will begin at six o'clock. Manhattan won the opening game by a 5-4 score after it was awarded a protest. Rohm & Haas coppered a 9-2 verdict in the second tilt. Joe Gallagher is slated to do the toss-up for the soap-makers with "Edie" Kornichuk due to twirl for the chemical workers.

and that the newcomers will have to learn to obey the law. President Judge Hiram H. Keller sentenced two Philadelphia men who were employed at the steel mill in Falls township, to prison. It is the third "steel mill" case to appear in criminal court.

Asserting that "We can't overlook this kind of conduct," Judge Keller sentenced them to serve not less than four nor more than 23 months in jail, pay the costs of prosecution and fine of $5.

Joseph Key, 19, of Philadelphia, and Lawrence Preston, 26, of the same city, who pleaded guilty to aggravated assault and battery and assault and battery, began fighting while riding home in a car from work on June 18.

Officer Bentley Chapin, Bristol Township Police Department, who made the arrest, following a street fight, near Edgely, testified Key had been stabbed in the arm.

Preston, who stabbed Key, had been beaten over the head with an exhaust pipe. The alteration began, according to an eye-witness, Julius Lindor, who was driving the car, when Key knocked Preston's hat off. Preston was sitting in the front of the car, climbed back over the seat and the tussle began. Key knocked Preston out with the exhaust pipe blow over the head after he had been stabbed in the arm with a knife.

There were two other passengers in the car, who were witnesses but were not called to corroborate Lindor's version of the fight. Bad feeling existed between the two defendants and when they were forced to use the same car the fight began.

TREVOSE SOCIETY TO MARK ANNIVERSARY

Annual Flower Show in September To Be a Highlight

DATES SEPT. 21 AND 22

TREVOSE, Sept. 13 — The silver anniversary of Trevoise Horticultural Society is being observed this season. One of the highlights of the season will be the 25th annual fall flower show, which will take place in the community house, Philmont avenue, near Street road, September 21st and 22nd.

The society began its existence in June, 1923, when a few residents volunteered to underwrite a flower show in September of that year. Annual exhibitions continued in September each year until 1927.

The next year Trevoise joined with other garden organizations and presented a combined exhibition at Trenton, N. J. Following this very successful show came the organization of the present society at a meeting held September 25, 1928, with over 300 charter members.

The membership has increased and boundaries broadened until there are now over 1,100 representatives from 100 communities in Bucks County, Montgomery County, Delaware County, Philadelphia and 15 New Jersey towns.

As stated in its constitution "the object of the society shall be the advancement of gardening, development of the home grounds and civic beautification." That this object has been ever in view is proved by the interest taken, the outstanding merit of the exhibitions in spring and fall shows and the accomplishments in roadside beautification and plantings in parks, public grounds and on private properties.

The society has taken a keen and helpful interest in the conservation of wild flowers; in the abolition of unsightly bill-boards; and in the protection of birds and other wild life. Many miles of highway have been planted with dogwood and other trees and shrubbery. Unsightly spots have been cleaned up and beautified.

The first president of the society was Garrett V. Clark, who served faithfully for 14 years. Succeeding presidents were: Robert B. McKenna and Harold W. West. The present officers are: President, Robert W. Tuckey, Bustleton; vice-presidents, Harold W. West, Trenton, N. J., Philip S. Wells, Haddon Heights, N. J., and Louis J. McConnell, Holland; secretary, Miss Bertha R. Paxson, Philadelphia; assistant secretary, Dr. Clara Crankshaw, Philadelphia; treasurer, Earl P. Allabach, Trevoise; assistant treasurer, R. O. Demming, Academy and Byberry roads, Bensalem township.

Meetings are held on the third Tuesday evening of each month in the community house.

The dues have never been increased from the original $1 a year, which members feel is returned many fold during the year. Membership entitles one to 12 meetings, at which entertainment and education is provided by renowned lecturers, horticultural authorities, eminent photographers and talented members; to admission to the society's spring and fall flower shows; to a discount on tickets to the Philadelphia flower show; and to a liberal discount on seed and plant orders. New members and visitors are always welcomed.

BRISTOL HEADS LIST

Six members of the U. S. Army, three Marines, and two members of the U. S. Air Force were among those taking out marriage licenses during the month of August at the office of the Clerk of Orphans' Court, Doylestown.

During the month of August, the total count of 132, two less than last year, included no Navy man throwing an anchor into the marital current.

An equal number of students also took out County Seat licenses, nine boys and two girls acquiring "study" companions for the coming school term.

Underagers were fairly plentiful, too, 58 bringing their parents in tow when making application. There were four 16 year old girls, one marrying a man 20 years her senior. Four were 17, nine were 18, ten were 19, and 13 were 20 years of age. One of the boys was 17; one, 18; eleven, 19, and five were 20 years old. Twenty-four applicants were just of age.

Fewer divorcees made application, numbering 14 men and 14 women, plus one annulment. Exactly half of the divorced group received decrees this year. One woman entered on her fourth marital venture, having lost two husbands in death and one to the divorce court. Five other widows and ten widowers applied for permission to remarry, eight of the 16 taking again to the orange blossoms with two years of bereavement, and another four within five years.

Only 12 of the entire group of candidates for double harness were more than 50 years of age. The oldest were a Philadelphia and Norristown couple, the groom aged 78 and his bride-to-be, 67.

One foreign country was represented by a hotel executive from Tel Aviv, Israel, and four other states sent applicants. There were 28 from Jersey, six New Yorkers, and one groom from Massachusetts and Michigan.

Bristolians making application numbered 26. Quakertown sent the next largest number with 19 middle-aislers, and Doylestown came in third with eleven. Hatboro and Langhorne each sent nine; Morrisville, 8; Chalfont and Perkasie each seven; Newtown and Croydon each six, and Sellersville, five.

Philadelphia alone sent 46 of the love-smitten, while brides and grooms-to-be also arrived from 31 other towns in the state.
